Description	The TA will assist the development and adoption of a new NEAL-NET logistics information-sharing standard. This new standard is expected to build upon existing standards and be optimally suited for all three countries to adopt and implement in their maritime ports. The TA will facilitate and assist the three countries to reach agreement on this common standard. It will also help the NEAL-NET secretariat prepare a development strategy that includes a roadmap for expanding the international logistics information platform to include different transport modes from maritime transport to land, railway and air transport. It will also recommend ways to enhance better inter-governmental cooperation among the NEAL-NET countries and with other geographical regions such as EU, ASEAN and other regions.
Project Rationale and Linkage to Country/Regional Strategy	The proposed TA is consistent with the directions in the PRC's 12th five year plan (2011-2015) and is aligned with ADB's country partnership strategy which seeks to develop the logistics sector. The proposed TA will support the government to define the development strategy of logistics information sharing service and research international logistics information technology and platform. The TA is also closely aligned with ADB's Sustainable Transport Initiative Operational Plan which emphasizes the need to develop high quality logistics information and environmentally sustainable and inclusive growth.
Impact	Improved logistics services in Northeast Asia
