Stakeholder Communication, Participation, and Consultation
During Project Design	The main beneficiaries will be the target communities. The TRTA consultant will carry out a stakeholder analysis to identify and confirm the beneficiaries, other stakeholders, and to define roles and responsibilities for strengthening participation in project design and implementation.

During Project Implementation Consultations in various modes will be conducted during the TRTA and throughout implementation to ensure concerns from the poor, vulnerable, and excluded groups, if any, are addressed and incorporated into project design and implementation.

Business Opportunities

Consulting Services	The TRTA will require (i) one consulting firm providing an estimated 20 international person-months and 30 national person-months to undertake outputs 1 through 3, recruited using quality-and-cost based selection (QCBS) procedure at 90:10 quality-cost ratio and full technical proposals; and (ii) one individual international consultant providing 2 person-months to expedite project processing and implementation start-up.
Procurement	During TRTA, advanced procurement action for the recruitment of the PIC will be conducted, and the request for proposals for PIC is expected to be issued by Quality Assurance Meeting stage. Detailed engineering design will be undertaken during project implementation. At least one goods package is expected to be made procurement ready before Board approval.
