Description	On 30 January 2020, World Health Organization (WHO) declared the coronavirus disease 2019 (COV of international concern. On 11 March 2020, WHO declared COVID-19 outbreak a pandemic. Confirm increasing. The first case in Bhutan was confirmed on 6 March 2020, when a foreign tourist tested p positive cases remained below 10. Thereafter, the number of positive cases started increasing rapid reaching 77 on 1 July 2020, of which 50 have recovered with no deaths. Due to stringent measures i days, Bhutan successfully managed to avoid local transmission so far. In Maldives, the Health Protee March 2020. As one of the most densely populated cities in the world, Maldives' capital Mal recorded the first weeks following the first confirmed local transmission on April 15. As of 2 July 2020, the nur The country has recorded 1,954 recoveries and 9 deaths. The health systems in both countries are severely strained by increased workload on health workers prioritization of health managers and frontline health workers in preparing for COVID-19 cases at the stockouts of infection control supplies, and disruptions to routine services including outreach service health care. The Asia Pacific Disaster Response Fund (APDRF) grants will be used for (i) procurement of essentia and support laboratory experts; (iii) transport and supply-chain logistics; and (iv) any additional goo preparedness.	ned COVID-19 cases across South Asia are ositive on 3 March 2020. Until mid-May, Ily since Bhutanese returning from overseas, and lengthier quarantine requirement, i.e., 21 ction Agency (HPA) reported the first case on 7 d a significant increase in COVID-19 cases in nber of confirmed cases had reached 2,382. Is to carry out surveillance and testing, e expense of other health system priorities, as that are essential for maintaining primary I supplies, i.e., test kits and reagents, PPE, tion, recruitment of emergency health worker
Project Rationale and Linkage to Country/Regional Strategy	The number of confirmed cases continues to rise in both countries. Preparedness for further disease arrangements still requires additional resources to meet the gaps. Managing the increasing number critical care as well as identifying the suspected cases remains a significant challenge. To address the equipment and enhancing facilities for diagnostic and critical care services, identifying and managin laboratories, financing overtime for stretched health workers, increasing the scope of surveillance, a prevention and control measures (IPC), as well as healthcare waste management are required imme augment their limited response capacity and constrained financial and human resources to ensure e United Nations humanitarian/resident coordinators have confirmed the needs of both countries and alleviating the situation. The Government of Bhutan requires additional funding to enhance its capacity to meet ongoing lifes response. This includes personal protective equipment (PPE) for frontline responders, equipment an medical consumables, and funding to support additional health initiatives. As the situation evolves i anticipated. The HPA is leading the response in Maldives. It has, in close collaboration with the National Disaster Tourism, led the national contingency planning process involving all relevant government sectors, p organizations such as the Maldivian Red Crescent. The proposed support will mainly address the urg and containment of further spread.	of cases that will require hospitalization and ne current situation, provision of medical ng cases, increasing the capacity of and providing for improved infection, ediately. Both governments need support to effective and timely life-saving efforts. The the amounts of funding required to assist in saving needs and upscale the emergency d supplies to enhance testing capacity, n the coming weeks, further requirements are Management Authority and the Ministry of rivate sector, and nongovernment
