Implementation Status and Key Decisions

The Sustainable Livelihoods and Adaptation to Climate Change Project (SLACC) was approved by the World Bank's Board of Directors on December 9, 2014. This US$ 8.0 million project financed with grant funds from the Special Climate Change Fund intends to incorporate climate resiliency in Gol's National Rural Livelihood Mission (NRLM) and will cover about 10,000 farmer households and 200 villages in 2 states of India. SLACC will establish a large scale proof-of-concept in two states (Bihar and Madya Pradesh) and develop strategies for scaling up lessons and best practices to other states in NRLM. It will specifically focus on multiple, locale-specific interventions on production, ecological, knowledge and financial systems that address the specific climate related vulnerabilities identified in livelihoods. Indicative examples: drought-/flood-tolerant varieties and crops, community seed/grain/fodder/fuel banks, on-farm water harvesting and soil moisture conservation, maintenance of drains and embankments, rehabilitation of natural drainage systems, low-cost micro-irrigation, climate-resilient livestock, weather based agro-advisories, weather index insurance, etc. SLACC will strengthen collaboration and partnerships with other Gol initiatives, such as wage employment, agriculture. SLACC will forge financing linkages and partnerships with research institutions and thematic resource organizations for providing enabling services and technical support for strategic agricultural investments.

The project management is under the National Rural livelihoods Promotion Society (NRLPS) in the Ministry of Rural Development at the national level and the State Rural Livelihoods Missions (SRLM) at the state levels

The second implementation support mission is planned for mid-October, 2015, with shorter technical visits in-between to the states.
