Project Description

According to the Bank's website, the cluster knowledge and support technical assistance (C-KSTA) "Advancing the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development" was approved by the President on 27 July 2021 and aims to support ADB's developing member countries (DMCs) to advance implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), share experience and lessons to strengthen development programming that advances the SDGs, and deliver more effective results-based programming, in line with ADB's Strategy 2030.

The TA cluster has four subprojects and is financed on a grant basis from the ADB's Technical Assistance Special Fund (TASF-other sources). The subprojects are designed to ensure continuity across some core activities, while allowing flexibility to respond to DMC demands and to support relevant initiatives in collaboration with Resident Missions and Departments across ADB. Each subproject contributes to the cluster's outcome and outputs.

Subproject 4 will largely focus on four areas: (i) supporting the Asia-Pacific SDG Partnership with ESCAP and UNDP; (ii) supporting DMC and ADB initiatives that advance alignment with Agenda 2030 and drive financing for the SDGs; (iii) enhancing awareness in DMCs on the importance of results management practices and project DMF in driving effective development; and (iv) innovative communications initiatives about ADB results and partnerships, such as Results Reality. Using the knowledge and experience generated from previous subprojects, Subproject 4 will strengthen the focus on partnerships and on enhancing ADB's visibility in delivering development impact in the region.
