Project Description

According to the Bank's website, the Promoting Industrial Park Green and Low Carbon Transition Project (the project) will support the People's Republic of China's (PRC) to achieve its commitment to combating climate change through catalyzing financing and strengthening institutional capacity for low carbon transition in carbon intensive sectors. The project is supported by a USD 200 million loan from Asian Development Bank (ADB) to the PRC Ministry of Finance, which is finally onlended to Huaxia Bank (HXB) to leverage domestic commercial co-financing to upscale low carbon transition investments and foster private sector led solutions. HXB, a national commercial bank, will be the financial intermediary (FI) as well as the project executing and implementing agency. The expected beneficiaries include the industrial parks and low carbon transition (LCT) enterprises with access to project financing, the management and employees of the selected industrial parks and enterprises, the people in and around the selected industrial parks in the country, including women and other vulnerable groups. The project's outcome is low carbon transition investments and climate resilient development in industrial parks enhanced.
