Investment Description

- Asian Development Bank (ADB)

Financial Intermediary

Financial Intermediary: A commercial bank or financial institution that receives funds from a development bank. A financial intermediary then lends these funds to their clients (private actors) in the form of loans, bonds, guarantees and equity shares. Financial intermediaries include insurance, pension and equity funds. The direct financial relationship is between the development bank and the financial intermediary.

Private Actors Description

As stated by the ADB, Khan Bank was established in 1991 and was previously known as the Agriculture Bank of Mongolia. It was owned by agricultural cooperatives, herdsmen, and farmers. It was privatized in 2003 and renamed Khan Bank in a post-Soviet effort to privatize the banking sector. Although privatized, it continues to maintain a focus on reaching the underserved in rural areas with inclusive finance as a priority in strategy and planning. Khan Bank is Mongolia's largest bank in terms of total assets, loans, and deposits—with market shares of 23% (total assets), 23% (loans), and 26% (deposits) as of the end of December 2013. The largest shareholder of Khan Bank is Sawada Holdings Co. Ltd. (SHC), which holds 41.3%. SHC is a Japan-based holding company engaged in securities, banking, commodities, real estate, and venture capital. SHC is listed on the Osaka Stock Exchange and had total assets of $3.0 billion at the end of December 2013. Tavan Bogd Trade Co. Ltd. owns 23.0% of Khan Bank. The Tavan Bogd Group is one of the largest private conglomerates in Mongolia, with 12 affiliated companies, engaged in retail and wholesale, travel and tourism, manufacturing, and food production.
