Project Description

According to the Bank's website, climate change and the loss of ecosystem services are increasingly threatening sustainable development of the Pacific small island developing states. The technical assistance (TA) will support climate resilience of developing member countries (DMCs) of the Asian Development Bank (ADB) in the Pacific, through a climate-food-nature nexus approach focusing on improved agriculture and fisheries management, protection of water resources, natural capital, ocean and coastal resources, and flood control. The TA will serve as an umbrella TA for the engagement of ADB's Agriculture, Food, Nature, and Rural Development (AFNR) sector, will support long term sector development while also cater to immediate country project needs.

ACCESS TO INFORMATION

You can submit an information request for project information at: <https://www.adb.org/forms/request-information-form>

ADB has a two-stage appeals process for requesters who believe that ADB has denied their request for information in violation of its Access to Information Policy. You can learn more about filing an appeal at: <https://www.adb.org/site/disclosure/appeals>

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF ADB

The Accountability Mechanism is an independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who believe they are likely to be, or have been, adversely affected by an Asian Development Bank-financed project. If you submit a complaint to the Accountability Mechanism, they may investigate to assess whether the Asian Development Bank is following its own policies and procedures for preventing harm to people or the environment. You can learn more about the Accountability Mechanism and how to file a complaint at: <http://www.adb.org/site/accountability-mechanism/main>.
