Project Description

According to the Bank's website, the proposed Northern China Agriculture and Food Ecosystem Net Zero Transformation Project will support the PRC to achieve its climate commitment through catalyzing financing and strengthening institutional capacity for net zero transformation in agriculture and food ecosystem.

The Northern China Agriculture and Food Ecosystem Low-Carbon and Climate-Resilient Development Project (the Project) is supported by a USD200 million loan from Asian Development Bank (ADB) to the Ministry of Finance (MOF) of People's Republic of China (PRC), which is finally onlent to Dalian Deta Holding Co., Ltd. (DDHC) through financial intermediation loan (FIL) modality. The Output 1 of the project will utilize ADB financing as an alternative asset climate catalytic fund (AACCF), which will serve as anchor capital, to leverage and mobilize private sector capital from institutional investors for the formation of a hybrid public-private climate-themed investment fund to finance investments in low-carbon and climate-resilient development in the agriculture and food ecosystem. AACCF will be managed by DDHC to provide equity investment through the public-private climate-themed investment fund to investees and debt investment to sub-borrowers.
