Project Description

According to the Bank's website, this project is designed to address gender-based violence (GBV) in Mongolia by implementing a comprehensive approach that emphasizes prevention, response, and policy enhancements within the education sector. It will equip schools, dormitories, and communities with prevention tools, engaging students, teachers, social workers, psychologists, dormitory staff, parents, and caregivers. The initiative will develop a module for child-friendly school dormitories in remote areas, where GBV prevention programs will be piloted and survivor-centered, trauma-informed GBV services will be strengthened. The project supports youth participation in technology-facilitated GBV (TFGBV) prevention activities, advocacy among policymakers on related policy enhancements. It will also implement community-led initiatives using a family-based approach, engage at-risk boys in violence prevention and promote positive masculinities, and establish a long-term rehabilitation initiative combining economic and gender empowerment for survivors of GBV.

ACCESS TO INFORMATION

You can submit an information request for project information at: <https://www.adb.org/forms/request-information-form>

ADB has a two-stage appeals process for requesters who believe that ADB has denied their request for information in violation of its Access to Information Policy. You can learn more about filing an appeal at: <https://www.adb.org/site/disclosure/appeals>

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF ADB

The Accountability Mechanism is an independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who believe they are likely to be, or have been, adversely affected by an Asian Development Bank-financed project. If you submit a complaint to the Accountability Mechanism, they may investigate to assess whether the Asian Development Bank is following its own policies and procedures for preventing harm to people or the environment. You can learn more about the Accountability Mechanism and how to file a complaint at: <http://www.adb.org/site/accountability-mechanism/main>.
