Project Description

According to the Bank's website, the TA aims to enhance the supply of sustainable finance products in the ASEAN+3 region by 1) broadening issuer base 2) strengthening the capacity of local sustainable finance professionals 3) supporting the development of sustainable finance ecosystems including sustainability disclosures, green taxonomies and 4) piloting innovative financing instruments such as transition bonds and biodiversity-linked instruments.

The TA is included in the Management-approved annual work program for the Economic Research and Development Impact Department (ERDI) and will be implemented under the guidance of the ASEAN+3 finance ministers and central bank governors as stipulated in the ABMI Medium-term Road Map for 2023 to 2026.

The TA aims to promote the issuance of sustainable finance instruments, support the development of sustainable finance ecosystems; and create opportunities for knowledge sharing, lessons learned, and policy recommendations for developing member countries (DMCs). This will be achieved through the following key activities: (i) broadening the issuer base; (ii) supporting the development of sustainable finance ecosystems, including but not limited to sustainability disclosures and taxonomies; and (iii) strengthening the capacity of local sustainable finance professionals through regional cooperation.
