Project Description

As stated by the ADB, the Sovereign Transactional Technical Assistance (TRTA) is designed to support the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka in developing the regulatory and project readiness protocols for deploying Battery Energy Storage Systems (BESS) and advanced Variable Renewable Energy (VRE) controls, and maintaining core grid reliability for ensuring the technical viability of the government's targeted 70% electricity generation from renewable energy by 2030 and net zero by 2050 onwards. The TA project will also support the processing and readiness of the ensuing investment project- Digitalization and Energy Storage for Renewable Energy Integration in Sri Lanka, programmed under ADB's financing in 2026. The intervention focuses explicitly on "emerging areas" necessary for grid resilience in a small, low-inertia system, namely Battery Energy Storage Systems (BESS) and smart grid operational controls.

ACCESS TO INFORMATION

You can submit an information request for project information at: <https://www.adb.org/forms/request-information-form>

ADB has a two-stage appeals process for requesters who believe that ADB has denied their request for information in violation of its Access to Information Policy. You can learn more about filing an appeal at: <https://www.adb.org/site/disclosure/appeals>

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF ADB

The Accountability Mechanism is an independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who believe they are likely to be, or have been, adversely affected by an Asian Development Bank-financed project. If you submit a complaint to the Accountability Mechanism, they may investigate to assess whether the Asian Development Bank is following its own policies and procedures for preventing harm to people or the environment. You can learn more about the Accountability Mechanism and how to file a complaint at: <http://www.adb.org/site/accountability-mechanism/main>.
