Project Description

According to bank documents, the present project concerns BH Bank (formerly known as Banque de l'Habitat). The project is expected to help finance borrowers, in particular small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and companies, operating in the health, construction (social housing), industry and renewable energy sectors. The proposed long-term line of credit of EURO 100 million will enable BH Bank to gain access to muchneeded financial resources to grow its loan portfolio thereby contributing to Tunisia's development. Through the proposed line of credit, the AfDB is expected to contribute to diversifying and lengthening the maturity profile of BH Bank's funding and enhancing its ability to extend term financing to viable borrowers at a time when Tunisia's financial sector is experiencing a severe liquidity squeeze.

The purpose of the line of credit is to enable the financing of borrowers, in particular small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and companies operating in the health, construction (social housing), industry and renewable energy sectors.

Investment Description

- African Development Bank (AFDB)

The commitment amount is U.A 84,148,876.19.

Financial Intermediary

Financial Intermediary: A commercial bank or financial institution that receives funds from a development bank. A financial intermediary then lends these funds to their clients (private actors) in the form of loans, bonds, guarantees and equity shares. Financial intermediaries include insurance, pension and equity funds. The direct financial relationship is between the development bank and the financial intermediary.
