Project Description

The proposed project is a EUR100 million partial credit guarantee (PCG) to the structured finance company, African Agriculture Impact Investments Ltd (Mauritius), to develop commercial agriculture in Africa. The project aims to leverage the AfDB's Partial Credit Guarantee (PCG) to catalyze the deployment of European pension and asset management funds into Africa's agriculture sector in line with the Bank's Feed Africa strategic priority. This will be achieved by using the PCG to back agri-linked notes (the Notes) of up to EUR100M to be issued by a structured finance company. The Mauritius-based company will leverage the Bank's PCG to catalyse additional financing from international pension funds through an Agri-linked Note to facilitate investments in sustainable farmland and agricultural infrastructure across Africa. It will be authorized to operate in various African countries through a special purpose entity that will include two other active portfolios worth EUR62.5 million. The proceeds of the Notes together with two other pools of assets worth about USD75M will be pooled in a Special Purpose Vehicle (SPV) to create a capital pool for ultimate investment in a diversified portfolio of agricultural farmland assets and related agricultural infrastructure in Africa. These assets will then be put at the disposal of selected agribusiness operators seeking expansion opportunities across the continent.

The objective of the project is to structure a means of financial intervention for the benefit of commercial agriculture in Africa, harnessing international capital flows into Africa from Europe by virtue of the Bank's catalytic effect. Other expected outcomes include (i) tenure and access to productive agricultural land with the requisite infrastructure; (ii) increasing agricultural productivity and food security; (iii) domestic value addition and food import substitution; (iv) improved agricultural infrastructure and technology; and (v) contribution to climate resilience through environmental reform and sustainability.

The investments are expected to target agricultural assets that will support multiple value chains including but not limited to; wheat, maize, barley, sorghum, livestock, dairy, as well as diverse fruits, vegetables and nuts. It comes with strong social, environmental and economic development impact including the generation of over 8,000 jobs with significant involvement of women and youth. It will help disseminate commercial-scale agribusiness and farm operational capacity across Africa with high complementarity with small-scale farmers through technical, managerial and financial skills transfer.
