Project Description

This Project is expected to have a highly developmental impact on Tanzania and the surrounding region by facilitating the expansion of a trucking company that has improved the quality and reliability of ground transportation across the region. The Project Company plans to build upon its existing model and increase efficiency gains due to economies of scale. The expansion will allow the Project Company to develop its own internal business management curriculum that will afford further leadership and management opportunities to local employees. The expansion is expected to create over 1,000 new local jobs that involves training in both technical skills as well as in health, safety, and environmental awareness. The Project will also finance the start-up of the Project Company's new driving academy in Tanzania that will provide international accreditation to commercial truck drivers.
