Project Description

According to NDB documents, the proposed project is a COVID response on-lending facility for a digital non-bank financial institution that provides short-term loans to consumer facing, retail oriented, underserved micro, small, and medium-sized enterprises that are often denied credit by the formal lending sector.

The Project is expected to have a highly developmental impact on India, a lower-middle-income country, through the expansion of NeoGrowth's MSME portfolio, which is focused on small retail businesses. India's poverty is a well-documented development challenge. One in five Indians is classified as low-income and 80% of India's lowest income populations live in rural areas. MSMEs play a crucial role in the Indian economy accounting for 29.8% of GDP, yet often cannot access financing to make necessary capital expenditures to grow their business and increase productivity. The Project will increase the amount of start-up and working capital available to MSME retailers spurring economic growth and alleviating economic poverty, with a focus on the "missing middle" small borrowers that are too large for traditional MFI lending, but too small for most commercial bank underwriting programs. In support of this new financing, NeoGrowth expects to hire an additional 1,298 employees to support the rapid expansion of its branch network and MSME loan portfolio over the next five years.
