Project Description

This project supports an on-going Oyu Tolgoi open pit mine, a major expansion of panel cave underground mine and the construction of additional infrastructure to support both open pit and underground production of the project second phase.

According to FMO, "The Oyu Tolgoi mining project is one of the largest copper-gold mines under development in the world. When the project achieves full capacity, it will produce about 600,000 tonnes of copper each year, representing around 3 percent of 2014 global refined copper production. The project is the largest single investment in the history of Mongolia"
