Project Description

FMO arranges a syndicate of up to USD 80 mln that will be used towards ongoing and planned (maintenance) capex expenditures and to enable the Cooperative's exporting activities. The capital investments will be used for maintenance of ACA's silos, ports, and to develop digital platforms. These investments will improve the efficiency and sustainable transport for grains, resulting in a reduction of truck transport, consequently implying Co2 reduction. The investments in the digital platforms will help farmers use agricultural inputs more efficiently resulting in better quality of soils and improved profitability of farmers. Due to the difficult macroeconomic conditions that Argentina has faced for several years, it is almost impossible for companies to attract long USD term funding. The proposed funding helps ACA to match long term investments with long term funding.
