Project Description

As stated on the project disclosure page, FMO will provide funding to SIMA C&I to be used for debt funding to SME energy services and construction companies in Sub-Saharan Africa's commercial and Industrial PV sector. It will offer a combination of short (developer) and long-term (project/asset) financing. The Fund's ultimate goal is to promote the reduction of GHG emissions as well as to support the growth of SME energy companies.

Providing energy access to the C&I sector is a key part in the promotion of sustainable operations through using renewable energy. Debt financing for small to medium scale energy companies and projects in Africa is considered particularly scarce. The Fund intends to have substantial impact by targeting an underserved market and would provide a mix of structured debt solutions to help support swift deployment of renewable projects. FMO's role as investor in the first closing for the Fund will contribute to catalyzing investors and the Fund reaching its target size and deployment timeline.
