Project Description

According to the Bank's website, FMO is providing a EUR 15 mln senior loan under the A/B syndicated loan structure with the Arranger (IFC) acting as the lender of record vis-a-vis the customer. The proposed financing will enable increased access to finance for underserved Micro, Small, and medium Enterprises ("MSMEs") and Women-owned and led SMEs ("WSMEs") in the West African Economic and Monetary Union ("WAEMU") region.

FMO is providing CH with needed long-term funding to finance the underserved segments through this funding. It qualifies as 100% for FMO's Reducing Inequalities label since Senegal and Mali (the targeted countries) are classified as Least Developed Countries.

Early Warning System Project Analysis

Per FMO's Sustainability Policy, the E&S category for this project is A. The project entails providing a senior loan to Coris Holding to support eligible MSMEs in Mali and Senegal operating in diverse sectors, including trade, manufacturing, agriculture, construction, and transportation services. The E&S risks and impacts associated with the supported activities are limited and are considered to be manageable through appropriate mitigation measures, categorizing the overall portfolio risk as medium. Consequently, the project has been classified as FI-2 under IFC's Sustainability Policy. Notably, the project will not finance coal-related or higher-risk business activities potentially involving involuntary resettlement, adverse impacts on Indigenous peoples, significant environmental or community health risks, biodiversity loss, cultural heritage impacts, or substantial occupational health and safety risks. The key E&S risks stem from the Holding's and its subsidiaries' capacity to identify and manage potential E&S risks associated with the MSMEs they support. Typical risks include occupational health and safety issues, waste and hazardous waste management, and air emissions.
