Project Description

As stated by the FMO, the funding supports Gledhow's expansion and modernization program, including the installation of newer, more efficient equipment that reduces steam use and improves energy performance. It also enables the mill's transition away from coal toward power generation using bagasse, a natural by-product of sugarcane processing, supporting a shift to cleaner and more sustainable operations.

Financing will help modernize a key agro-industrial employer in a rural area with limited job opportunities and a high dependence on the sugar industry. Around 26,000 people in the region rely on Gledhow for their livelihoods, and this investment helps safeguard economic activity while enabling Gledhow to move toward cleaner and more efficient production.

Early Warning System Project Analysis

Gledhow is categorized as B+ E&S risk based on the limited E&S impacts that are site-specific and not irreversible. The IFC Performance Standards (PS) applicable to the expansion and operation of the sugarcane mill are related to PS1 - PS4. Gledhow is working with existing farms, but PS 6 (biodiversity management) may be applicable for undeveloped land both at the mill and in the supply chain. PS5, 7 and 8 are not triggered. Generally, the E&S risks are considered to be manageable with the right measures and resource capacity, which Gledhow already largely has and can be improved where needed over the coming years with support of FMO through a targeted Environmental and Social Action Plan (ESAP).
