Project Description

The objective of the technical cooperation is to contribute to the strengthening of the fluvial way in Colombia, by means of the exchange of international experiences in matters of institutional and operational management of waterways, with particular attention to the Paraná-Paraguay Waterway. Indeed, the aforementioned Waterway is one of the most interesting examples of river transport at the international level, in which five countries participate with the objective of establishing an industrial navigation channel for the movement of one of the largest volumes of bulk cargo at the international level. This fluvial engineering project is a reference for Colombia, considering that the country has waterways that cross large areas of its territory.

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF IADB

The Independent Consultation and Investigation Mechanism (MICI) is the independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who have been or are likely to be adversely affected by an Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) or Inter-American Investment Corporation (IIC)-funded project. If you submit a complaint to MICI, they may assist you in addressing the problems you raised through a dispute-resolution process with those implementing the project and/or through an investigation to assess whether the IDB or IIC is following its own policies for preventing or mitigating harm to people or the environment. You can submit a complaint by sending an email to MICI@iadb.org. You can learn more about the MICI and how to file a complaint at <http://www.iadb.org/en/mici/mici,1752.html> (in English) or <http://www.iadb.org/es/mici/mici,1752.html> (Spanish).
