Project Description

According to the IADB, the general objective of this non-reimbursable Technical Cooperation (TC) is to generate knowledge and assess opportunities of regulated carbon markets in the seven member countries of the Inter-American Development bank (IDB) that share the Amazon region to support their efforts to reduce green-house gas emissions. This TC will assess constraints, challenges, and opportunities to implement policies, regulatory frameworks and market infrastructure for regulated domestic and international carbon markets. These activities are expected to complement other solutions to foster transformative changes for reducing emissions and contribute to sustainable development in these countries. To reduce the effects of climate change, the world needs to achieve net-zero carbon emissions by mid-century, implying a transformational shift towards new, clean technologies, including sustainable land-use related practices and systemic changes ahead. Therefore, it is crucial to ensure that actions today align with such long-term required goals by mid-century.

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF IADB

The Independent Consultation and Investigation Mechanism (MICI) is the independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who have been or are likely to be adversely affected by an Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) or Inter-American Investment Corporation (IIC)-funded project. If you submit a complaint to MICI, they may assist you in addressing the problems you raised through a dispute-resolution process with those implementing the project and/or through an investigation to assess whether the IDB or IIC is following its own policies for preventing or mitigating harm to people or the environment. You can submit a complaint by sending an email to MICI@iadb.org. You can learn more about the MICI and how to file a complaint at <http://www.iadb.org/en/mici/mici,1752.html> (in English) or <http://www.iadb.org/es/mici/mici,1752.html> (Spanish).
