Project Description

According to the IADB, the energy transition presents a unique set of challenges that extend beyond the large-scale adoption of low-carbon technologies. These challenges encompass economic, social, and institutional frictions, among others. This TC aims to develop cutting-edge knowledge products to identify, quantify, and address these frictions, with a focus on market transformations, fiscal constraints, regulatory bottlenecks, social acceptance, and the political economy of interest groups. By providing actionable insights, this project aims to help policymakers and stakeholders across Latin America and the Caribbean in designing strategies that overcome these frictions and ensure an inclusive and equitable path to sustainable growth.

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF IADB

The Independent Consultation and Investigation Mechanism (MICI) is the independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who have been or are likely to be adversely affected by an Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) or Inter-American Investment Corporation (IIC)-funded project. If you submit a complaint to MICI, they may assist you in addressing the problems you raised through a dispute-resolution process with those implementing the project and/or through an investigation to assess whether the IDB or IIC is following its own policies for preventing or mitigating harm to people or the environment. You can submit a complaint by sending an email to MICI@iadb.org. You can learn more about the MICI and how to file a complaint at <http://www.iadb.org/en/mici/mici,1752.html> (in English) or <http://www.iadb.org/es/mici/mici,1752.html> (Spanish).
