Project Description

Chongqing Baidu Micro-Loan Company Ltd (“Baidu CQ MCC” or the “Company”), wholly owned by Baidu Inc., was established in October 2015 and registered in Chongqing. It mainly provides financing to young people to support their vocational education, by using big data-based credit assessment methodology.

The proposed investment will provide mid-term local currency financing to Baidu CQ MCC to help it expand lending business to support young people to access vocational education, and contribute to both access to finance and access to education in China.

Founded in January 2000 by Robin Li and Eric Xu, Baidu Inc. is a leading Chinese web service company headquartered in Beijing, China and was listed in NASDAQ in 2005. Baidu offers various kinds of web services, including search engine, user generated-content-based knowledge community, social networking, software, mobile related products and services and others. Baidu CQ MCC is indirectly wholly owned by Baidu Inc., through Baidu Holdings Ltd and Baidu (Hong Kong) Ltd.

Expected Development Impact

Increase Access to Finance in China: the proposed investment is expected to increase access to finance for vocational education students who lack of long working experience or existing wealth/properties and therefore have limited access to bank loans, and also help them establish credit records.

Promote Big Data-based Credit Assessment Methodology: the proposed investment is also expected to promote the usage of big data based lending methodology, which can help improve the efficiency and coverage of financing.

Increase Access to Education in China: the proposed investment is expected to enable more young people in China, who has vocational education needs but has limited financial capacity to pay tuitions at once, to access quality vocational education.

Improve the Employability and Productivity for Young People: through participating the vocational educations, the students can equip themselves with knowledge and skillset urgently needed for employment or productivity improvement.
