It will have generalist sector strategy and will invest in mid-market growth capital and buyout transactions in Poland and in other Central Eastern Europe countries, mainly Romania.

People Affected By This Project

(i) Job creation: The Fund will focus on mid-cap companies with growth capital needs, which tend to have the largest impact on job creation, and the most potential for IFC to develop direct relationships with the underlying companies, through potential co-investment opportunities.
(ii) Access to finance: IFC''s investment would support Polish companies by providing additional equity to the mid-cap segment which otherwise has limited access to long-term equity/risk capital.
(iii) Private sector development: The Fund''s hands-on involvement, financial and operational insights will help strengthen governance and improve operating efficiencies of the investees.
