Project Description

The project aims to provide long-term financing to Federación de Cajas de Crédito y de Bancos de los Trabajadores, S.C. de R.L. de C.V. (Fedecredito or FDC), an existing IFC client, for up to US$60 million in the form of a Diversified Payments Rights (DPR) notes issuance. The proceeds will be used to provide access to finance to micro, small, and medium size enterprises (MSMEs) and lower income individuals in El Salvador. At least 25% of the proceeds will be to fund women-owned or -led very small and small enterprises (WVSEs and WSEs, together WOE) through FDC's Member Financial Institutions (MIs) (the Project).

People Affected By This Project

The most significant expected Project-level outcome is increased access to finance for MSMEs as well as increased access to finance for WOE. Beyond the project level outcomes, IFC anticipates that the investment would promote greater inclusiveness via demonstration and replication channels to increase access to finance to women and rural areas of El Salvador. Through this Project, FDC hopes to further standardize its operations across the country, expand its footprint into underserved segments (rural, women), and establish the viability of lending to these segments with customized products and enhanced interoperability, which could spur the pace of financial inclusion in El Salvador for the rural poor and women enterprises, which currently face disproportionately more constraints.

Financial Intermediary

Financial Intermediary: A commercial bank or financial institution that receives funds from a development bank. A financial intermediary then lends these funds to their clients (private actors) in the form of loans, bonds, guarantees and equity shares. Financial intermediaries include insurance, pension and equity funds. The direct financial relationship is between the development bank and the financial intermediary.
