Project Description

The proposed project entails investing in Cerberus Emerging Market Special Situations Fund, L.P. (the Fund), a fund managed by Cerberus Capital Management, L.P. (Cerberus or the Manager). The Fund will invest in credit opportunities in Emerging Markets, primarily targeting stressed/distressed companies, with focus on Latin America and Caribbean (the Project).

Stakeholders impact

The Project will support the acquisition and resolution of NPLs by allowing financial institutions to offload distressed assets. In turn, this helps them to release capital, decrease liquidity needs, and reduce their costs associated with the management of these assets. As a result, this will enhance the capacity of these financial institutions to increase lending. It will also help debtors to normalize their defaulted obligations, regain access to credit, and return to actively participate in the financial system. Lastly, the Project will support stress/distress small and medium sized enterprises (SMEs) and corporates by providing credit and the much-needed liquidity to improve their financial health, continue their operations, and ultimately preserve jobs.

Market impact

The Project will contribute to further develop the Latin American distressed asset space especially in Brazil, Colombia, and Mexico. The Project will likely generate a positive demonstration effect by fostering the participation of more players to the region, which is critical to create a vibrant, well-functioning and efficient environment for distressed investing.
