Project Description

According to the IFC, the Project consists of a Synthetic Risk Transfer (SRT) transaction in which IFC will provide to Santander Bank Polska S.A. (SPL) an unfunded guarantee on credit losses of up to PLN475 million (US$110 million equivalent) on a PLN2.9 billion reference portfolio comprising consumer finance loans on SPL balance sheet. SPL will deploy capital freed up as a result of the IFC loss protection to undertake no less than $600 million-equivalent of new green lending in Poland. The Project will increase the resilience of SPL, which is one of the country's systemic banks, and introduce a highly innovative SRT structure, which will be the first SRT in emerging markets with a climate risk mitigation objective.

Early Warning System Project Analysis
