Project Description

As stated on the project disclosure page, IFC is proposing to anchor an emerging market focused sidecar fund (the “EM Sidecar”), with IFC contributing US$100 million and mobilizing additional amounts via IFC’s Asset Management Company (“AMC”). The EM Sidecar will be managed by Appian Capital Advisory Limited or one or more of its affiliates and will co-invest with the Fund Manager’s Appian Natural Resources Fund III and Appian Credit Strategies Fund I (together “the Funds”), as well as potential successor funds, in metals, mining and adjacent industries projects in emerging markets (“EM”). The commodities that the Funds and the EM Sidecar will target include those that are primarily linked to energy transition and technology-linked commodities. The EM Sidecar will have an opt-out right for IFC policy considerations, including alignment with IFC Performance Standards.

Investment Description

- International Finance Corporation (IFC)

Financial Intermediary

Financial Intermediary: A commercial bank or financial institution that receives funds from a development bank. A financial intermediary then lends these funds to their clients (private actors) in the form of loans, bonds, guarantees and equity shares. Financial intermediaries include insurance, pension and equity funds. The direct financial relationship is between the development bank and the financial intermediary.

- Appian Capital Advisory LLP (Financial Intermediary)

Private Actors Description

As stated by the IFC:

Founded in 2011 by Michael W. Scherb, Appian is a leading global Metals and Mining Fund Manager with US$3.6 billion in assets under management. Appian has 10 offices worldwide and employs approximately 90 professionals, including a 28-person technical team, representing the largest technical team in the market. Uniquely, Appian is not a pure capital allocator, but also a leading builder and operator of projects in a technically intensive sector.
