Project Description

According to IFC project disclosure information, the objective of this program is to support climate investments and help financial institutions in Sub-Saharan Africa to integrate climate finance in their lending business, i.e. extending loans to SMEs, Corporates, and households for energy efficiency, clean energy, green buildings, green housing, and climate smart agriculture investments. This is in the context of growing demand in the region for more reliable electricity supply, better equipment and machineries for production and services, less energy and water intensive commercial and residential buildings, and more resilient agri-business- which all are critical for SSA socio-economic development.

The program objective is to be achieved by:

- i. generating market intelligence on climate-smart opportunities in specific sectors that FIs target;
- ii. providing technical support for FIs in building suitable strategies, aligning/improving products to serve the green finance needs of their clients, and training FI staff on climate investment due diligence, portfolio monitoring and impact reporting; and
- iii. supporting outreach and awareness raising for FI target clients (i.e. SMEs, corporates, HH businesses) to understand the feasibility and benefits of climate-smart investments that can save costs and reduce environmental footprint or increase resilience capacity at the same time. Wherever relevant, the program will also facilitate partnerships with banking associations, industry associations, technical service organizations and technology providers to help with project pipeline generation for FIs to finance.
