Franco da Rocha Street Lighting Child Project

People Affected By This Project

The key environmental & social (E&S) issues and risks associated with this project include: the company's E&S management capacity (including identification and management of the sub-projects E&S risks for both construction and operations), labor and working conditions, occupational health and safety (OHS), fire protection and emergency response and stakeholder engagement.

IFC's review concluded that the potential adverse E&S risks and impacts of this project are considered few in number, and potentially readily mitigated allied with implementation of good international industry practice. This is therefore a Category B project according to IFC's Policy on Environmental and Social Sustainability (2012).
