Project Description

According to bank provided information, the project will advise private sector manufacturing companies in Egypt on the adoption of resource efficiency (REF) solutions or circular economy practices. This tailored advice includes the adoption of solutions to reduce energy and water use leading to better efficiency and productivity of resources; improved wastewater treatment; and/or recycling.

Through the application of REF principles, renewable energy and circular economy interventions by lead firms/sector leaders, a “good practice” base is intended to be created to allow for demonstration effect and potential replication by other, companies not benefiting from the firm-level work. In this regard, the project intends to implement market-wide awareness raising and knowledge dissemination activities to share knowledge on tools, best practices and lessons learned under this project and/or other REF projects globally when applicable.
