Project Description

As stated by the MIGA, this summary describes a proposed investment by financial institutions yet to be identified (the Guarantee Holders) which intend to provide short-term, revolving trade loans to Turk Eximbank, a Turkish export credit agency solely owned by the Ministry of Treasury and Finance, to help the state-owned bank extend export credits to local companies to facilitate their exports. The MIGA Trade Finance Guarantee (TFG) is requested for up to EUR 304 million of trade loan principal, future interest, and potentially MIGA premium, against the risk of non-payment by Turk Eximbank of its financial obligations relating to the trade finance transaction with a framework period of 3 years, within which underlying transactions will have a maximum tenor of 1 year.

The proceeds of the trade loan will be used to fill the time gap between orders, shipments, and payments, which is equivalent to providing a short-term liquidity that covers front-end expenditures for production of export goods.

The Project is expected to support the government development strategy by seeking to reduce the country's external imbalances, through the provision of favorable trade finance loans to export oriented firms. Turk Eximbank is the sole export credit agency of Türkiye and a major player in support of exporters' access to finance. The national development strategy highlights that Türkiye's international competitive position will be strengthened through sustainable, low-emission, high-technology-based production techniques and exports will be improved with a focus on green and digital transformation. In alignment with the strategy, the proceeds of the facility will focus on servicing export-oriented small and medium enterprises (SMEs), women-inclusive companies, green export companies, and medium to high technology companies. Such loans will mostly be utilized to finance raw material and inputs expenditures for production and to provide liquidity to manage time mismatches between the order, shipment, and payment from the buyers.

The Project aims to promote private sector-led growth by supporting the exporters in Türkiye through increased access to trade finance.
