Project Description

The proposed project is designed to fill a clear gap by concentrating on strengthening early warning and preparedness for communities, coastal protection in vulnerable areas, financial support for disaster response, and institutional strengthening and capacity building within these elements. Phase II of the Pacific Resilience Program (PREP) will complement existing initiatives which aim to minimize the impact of climate change and natural hazards across the Pacific Region, and support the continuation and expansion of the Pacific Catastrophe Risk Assessment and Financing Initiative (PCRAFI) insurance program, of which RMI is a participant.

The PREP is a 'Series of Projects', implemented in two phases at this stage, with the potential for more phases in the future. The PREP helps PICs to: (i) strengthen early warning and preparedness; (ii) create a framework for better, prioritized investments for climate and disaster resilience; and (iii) improve the post-disaster response capacity of the countries through strengthened financial resilience to disaster events.

PREP Phase I includes activities in Samoa, Tonga, Vanuatu and RMI, along with a range of activities which are implemented by the regional organizations the Pacific Community (SPC) and the Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat (PIFS). RMI and Vanuatu participate only in part of PREP Phase I which supports the financing of premiums for the regional disaster risk financing insurance scheme. Phase II of the PREP will include a broader range of activities for RMI.

The project development objective is to strengthen early warning systems, climate resilient investments in shoreline protection, and to provide immediate and effective response to an Eligible Crisis or Emergency.
