Project Description

According to the World Bank, the development objectives of the Social Protection (SP) System Project for Mexico are to support the government’s effort to increase access of PROSPERA beneficiaries to social and productive programs, and develop instruments for an integrated social protection system.

PROSPERA is Mexico's conditional cash transfer program. Those who qualify for the program based on economic measures must comply with their health and education-related co-responsibilities. Compliance in checked every two months.

The additional financing will scale up the effectiveness of the well-performing SP System Project by extending further support to PROSPERA beneficiaries, and increasing positive impacts on consumption, education, health, and nutrition for the poor and vulnerable (including indigenous peoples), with continued focus on supporting the ongoing building of linkages with social and productive programs in the larger SP system.

The restructuring will bring following changes:

(i) modification of the scope of current activities, including incorporation of new tasks for selected sub-components

(ii) reallocation of loan resources within components but not within categories

(iii) revision of result indicators and targets

(iv) extension of the closing date of the original loan to align it with the June 30, 2021 closing date of the additional loan.
