Project Description

According to the bank document, Hunan Government categorizes the rural revitalization program in six subprograms in alignment with the strategic plan areas: agriculture industrial development, livable environment, rural civilization, governance effectiveness, public services and poverty alleviation. Together these cover almost all public sectors, including agriculture and rural development, irrigation, environment protection, sanitation, transport, culture, health, education, job creation, aged care, and social services.

The program development objective of the proposed PforR is to improve budget transparency, fiscal risk monitoring, public expenditure management, and delivery of key public services in rural Hunan.

Early Warning System Project Analysis
