Project Description

According to the World Bank, the project objective is to expand access to affordable housing finance for underserved populations in Djibouti's territory.

Early Warning System Project Analysis

According to the World Bank:

The Project aims to support the Government of Djibouti in its efforts to implement priority and necessary activities to create a minimum platform of conditions to develop access to affordable housing. Currently the lack of affordable and commercial housing finance solutions remains a major issue. Affordable housing supply is coming to the market through public developers, but buyers have no access to commercial financing due to the banks' risk aversion towards low-income groups. The project seeks to transition financial solutions implemented by public developers to the commercial financial system, and will:

- Expand access to affordable housing finance to underserved households through a mortgage partial guarantee mechanism;
- Introduce innovative financing solutions for the self-construction of affordable housing targeting low-income households to involve microfinance institutions; and convert existing rent-to-own contracts to low-and-middle-income households into mortgage loans;
- Support policy reforms to lower construction cost.
