Project Description

According to the Bank's website, the development objective of the Enhancing the Social Protection System for Human Capital and Resilience Project for Angola is to increase access to opportunities to build foundational human capital and household resilience, and to strengthen the social protection system.

The project comprises of four components.

The first component, human capital and resilience building consists of following sub-components: (i) increasing investments in human capital among beneficiary households; (ii) strengthening beneficiary households' resilience and adaptiveness to climatic shocks; and (iii) enhancing productive opportunities.

The second component, improving social protection implementation and institutional capacity will be implemented by FAS-Local Development Institute (IDL) (Subcomponent 2A) and Ministry of Social Action, Family and Promotion of Women (MASFAMU) (Subcomponent 2B) in accordance with their respective legal mandates, with each having independent fiduciary and management responsibility. It consists of following sub-components: (i) improving efficiency of Kwenda program delivery systems; and (ii) strengthening social protection systems, policy, and develop social protection (SP) skills.

The third component, project management, and monitoring and evaluation (M and E) consists of following sub-components: (i) FAS-IDL project management and M and E; and (ii) MASFAMU project management and capacity building.

The fourth component, contingency emergency response component (CERC) will allow the government to quickly reallocate and mobilize funds to support response to an eligible crisis or emergency.

Early Warning System Project Analysis

Environmental and Social (E&S) risk is rated moderate. The project environmental risk is rated as moderate from Occupational Health and Safety risks associated with the engagement of a large workforce, including community level workers, to deliver the project. The project social risk is rated as moderate. Social risks include localized conflicts over the activities (e.g., between eligible and ineligible persons or intra-household), Gender-Based Violence/Sexual Exploitation and Abuse/Sexual Harassment risks that could be exacerbated by the project and the context of operating in southern Angola, home to Indigenous Persons and Ethnolinguistic Minority Communities who are highly marginalized and vulnerable.
