Project Description

According to bank's website, the approved project aims to protect endangered chimpanzee populations and promote restoration of biodiverse ecosystems within targeted conservation areas in Rwanda. The project will conserve endangered chimpanzee populations and improve degraded areas, protect wildlife habitats, generate jobs, and strengthen resilience through ecosystem restoration with enhanced conservation area management and benefit local communities. The project will support an evidence-based and adaptive management approach that uses data-supported interventions to dynamically respond to changes in performance risks. It will invest in conservation of biodiversity and enhancement of conservation area resilience (component 1), promote sustainable landscapes and nature-based resilience (component 2), and project management and M&E support (component 3) to execute project activities effectively and efficiently, including the ESF.

ACCESS TO INFORMATION

To submit an information request for project information, you will have to create an account to access the Access to Information request form. You can learn more about this process at: <https://www.worldbank.org/en/access-to-information/request-submission>

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF THE WORLD BANK

The World Bank Inspection Panel is the independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who believe they are likely to be, or have been, adversely affected by a World Bank-financed project. If you submit a complaint to the Inspection Panel, they may investigate to assess whether the World Bank is following its own policies and procedures for preventing harm to people or the environment. You can contact the Inspection Panel or submit a complaint by emailing ipanel@worldbank.org. Information on how to file a complaint and a complaint request form are available at: <https://www.inspectionpanel.org/how-to-file-complaint>
