Project Description

According to bank's website, the approved project aims to finance the design and piloting of an incentive scheme for select Kwenda cash transfer program beneficiaries living in climate-vulnerable areas with poor child nutrition outcomes. The first component will focus on financial incentives to promote the adoption of nutrition-sensitive services in the context of maternal, newborn, and child health. The second component will support the development of income-generating activities centered around reducing community exposure to climate risks. The project will help design and test cost-effective and scalable incentive models for these interventions, and develop operational tools to facilitate their integration into the broader Kwenda program.

ACCESS TO INFORMATION

To submit an information request for project information, you will have to create an account to access the Access to Information request form. You can learn more about this process at: <https://www.worldbank.org/en/access-to-information/request-submission>

ACCOUNTABILITY MECHANISM OF THE WORLD BANK

The World Bank Inspection Panel is the independent complaint mechanism and fact-finding body for people who believe they are likely to be, or have been, adversely affected by a World Bank-financed project. If you submit a complaint to the Inspection Panel, they may investigate to assess whether the World Bank is following its own policies and procedures for preventing harm to people or the environment. You can contact the Inspection Panel or submit a complaint by emailing ipanel@worldbank.org. Information on how to file a complaint and a complaint request form are available at: <https://www.inspectionpanel.org/how-to-file-complaint>
