Project Description

This operation will provide contingent financing to the Dominican Republic to cover extraordinary public expenditures during emergencies caused by severe or catastrophic natural disasters.

The objective of the operation is to help mitigate the impact that a severe or catastrophic disaster could have on the country's public finances, by increasing the availability, stability, and efficiency of contingent financing to deal with emergencies caused by events of this type.

Investment Description

The proposed operation will consist of the reformulation of loan DR-X1003 in order to increase the total amount of coverage to US$300 million. As with the original loan DR-X1003 approved in 2009, this operation will be structured through a Bank investment loan. All disbursements made will be charged to the Bank's Ordinary Capital (OC) resources. The funds may either come from the regular lending program, available undisbursed balances of the investment loans already approved and identified in the Automatic Reallocation List, or a combination of these two options.

The proposed project includes a single component for US$300 million, which consists of providing quickly accessible liquid resources to structure stable and efficient ex ante financial coverage to defray any extraordinary expenses that could arise in emergencies caused by severe or catastrophic natural disasters in a timely manner.

Given the contingent nature of the operation, loan disbursements will only be made upon verification of the occurrence of an eligible event during the period when the loan proceeds are available.
